Greetings everyone,

Whenever it comes to writing this letter it seems like the most reflective time here at the farm, of things that have changed and things that always seem the same. Time stops for no one, and plans change according to the cattle it seems. It has been another dry summer and lack of hay had us making some complexing decisions on whether letting good cows go was the right choice to fit our feed supply. We opened some opportunities for others to get the pick of our fall herd, and hyper cut the spring herd. the optimistic side of this is we took a hard look on where and how we are going to move forward with the breeding program. We tighten up spring calving season to 35 days thus culling some potential cows that should have stayed, and we elected to sell some fall bred heifers this year instead of putting in more fall heifer calves because of low heifer this fall.

"I hope to see you on March 21st, I will be out 'working' in back most likely but will definitely stop in the shed when the food will be served!"
— Patti

Even so far, this 2024 year the 2+ feet of snow and frigid blast of arctic air caused us to move all the bulls together in one pasture rather than the older bulls wintering separately from the spring yearling. With the mud, snow, and inability to get machinery through the pasture all 25 bulls are living the high life in the bull pasture in the open shed eating corn silage, ground hay, free choice hay and 12 pounds grain. The spring heifers had the hard start to the year. They have been across the road in woods, with just mother nature, they get to keep the shag they have. Although as I think of it this particular week, I

"I will see you when you are registering! I hope you find something in our herd to make your own. Writing bill of sales is an act of pride, that we could produce something that will better the industry and complement your operation."
— Victoria

Jo & Tom Heidt, Victoria & Hank Kypke and boys,
Shane & Katie Heidt and Patti

"You should be able to find something you are looking for here."
— Shane

"Can not wait to have you all here, I have been contemplating over what to make you, but it will be hearty and hot. If you go hungry it is your own fault. I am looking forward to visiting and catching up. There will also be another drawing of homemade preserves (our garden was out of hand this year)"
— Jo

am sure they are appreciating it with the temps in the high 40s and looking at 50's.

As Tom and Jo both officially at the "retirement" age neither are slowing down too much when it comes to farm work. Tom is finding that giving up responsibility means that things are not done exactly as he had planned in his head, but with the 3rd generation now moving into showing cattle he is finding new options. James has shown in his first Hereford Junior National! The number us kids "own" has been growing and while they are treated and valued the same it is becoming a bit of a joke around here that Tom is running out of cows.

"The best set of bulls to date! There are definitely heifers that should not be leaving the farm."
— Tom
